How can you best support teachers and EA's to promote positive behaviours. I provide crash courses in interventions and strategies to be able to train and support your staff. I provide you with tools to tangibly implement support for teachers and EA's immediately.

1. Developing realistic strategies for high behaviour needs

The focus of these sessions are about WHAT to do in elevated situations with students, they are collaborative, functional, and designed for staff engagement.

2. Developing confidence in elevated situations

Practising and knowing what to do in the classroom when students are deregulated to varying degrees - for teachers and for Education Assistance

3. Enhancing the Teacher EA relationship

The teacher and EA relationship can be the greatest catalyst for change and success for students, if left unintentional it is fractious and can be toxic - negatively impacting learning
